Working the bugs out

Our Department of Information Technology conducted an event "WORKING THE BUGS OUT" on 17.09.2022 at IT Class Rooms a bug refers to an error, fault or flaw in any computer program or a hardware system. A bug produces unexpected results or causes a system to behave unexpectedly. In short, it is any behaviour or result that a program or system gets but it was not designed to do". Simply put, a software bug is a mistake or problem in a computer program.

"Debugging", the origin of the computer bug.

Most computer bugs are due to human error. Various reasons cause the occurrence of a computer bug – mistakes made in either the program's design or source code, or by the use of incorrect code by the software developers. The experts say even nowadays, there is no bug-free program, despite the technological progress.

DEPARTMENT OF INFORMATION TECHNOLOGY

1 Workshop on "Full stack development on Software Engine":

Our Department of Information and technology organized Workshop on "Full stack development on Software Engine" on 11.03.2023 at 10 AM in CP1 Lab. Speaker of this programme is S.Sasidharan, Chief Learning Officer, Amphisoft Technologies, Coimbatore. Students are very eager to know about the full stack development and they asked many questions and clarify their doubts. Full stack development is the feature of technologies.

A full stack developer is an IT expert who builds web applications from start to finish. This includes working on the front-end and back-end aspects of the application. The front-end is what the users interact with when using the application, whereas the back-end side stores and processes data.
